So I just bought a kit that has the daveh manifold, or so I'm told, but does not have the normal PT61 turbo. Instead of the triangle turbo mount it's a square and from what I'm told is a T4 flange. This kit was bolted onto an SC300 with good results, from what I've been told. However I have thus far been unable to find any information on this turbo. Perhaps you guys can help me out. I have written down all the info that is on it.

IHI Turbo
Spec: GM-4
S/N: 009415
P/N: 12512990

On the intake side of the turbo it says: 51T/32 and underneath that has 36492

On the exhaust side of the turbo it says: 53T-001. underneath that is the letter G and then 341-99.

I know this isn't the best description but perhaps someone can help me figure out the specifications of this turbo. Any help would be greatly appreciated. Thanks!

Have you checked out their website? IHI is a japanese base turbo company. here is a link to their page that provide some specs on the turbo base on the measurments. http://www.ihit-turbo.com/turbo\_RHE-RHF.htm

Yes, I have been all over there website, but have been unable to find any specifics about that particular turbo. They do have lots of schematics and diagrahms discussing various turbos they sell for both gasoline and diesel engines, but I haven't been able to narrow it down to the specific specifications about my particular turbo. Thanks for the help though man, we both went to the same place first! :)

Hey just call them with the number on the tag. They should be able to tell you the specs on it. Your the first one on here that I have seen using an IHI turbo.
